Note to the reader on the organization of this book I have set up Bread Science to be as much like a reference book as possible, enabling readers to open to a section of interest without needing to read the whole book.

BREAD SCIENCE

Bread is a staple food prepared from a dough of flour and water, usually by baking. Throughout recorded history it has been a prominent food in large parts of the world and is one of the oldest man-made foods, having been of significant importance since the dawn of agriculture.. Bread may be leavened by processes such as reliance on naturally occurring sourdough microbes, chemicals ...

A roll is a small, often round loaf of bread served as a meal accompaniment (eaten plain or with butter). A roll can be served and eaten whole or cut transversely and dressed with filling between the two halves. Rolls are also commonly used to make sandwiches similar to those produced using slices of bread. They are found in most cuisines all over the world.
